14th Annual Archaeology Day Schedule

Foundations on Running Water: The Archaeology of Water and Settlement

9:00-9:15  Welcome

Session #1

9:20-9:50  Steve Daniel (Department of Anthropology, University of British Columbia): Early Designs on DhRs-1 časnaʔəm-Marpole

9:50-10:20  Patrick Morgan Ritchie (Department of Anthropology, University of British Columbia): Riverine Island Settlements in Coast Salish Territory: Sacred and Conspicuous Occupations.

10:20-10:50  Thomas Schneider (Department of Classical, near Eastern and Religious Studies, University of British Columbia): Subjects of a despot: Humans and the Nile from a New Perspective

10:50-11:00  Break

Session #2

11:00-11:30  Rhy McMillan¹,²,³, Morgan Ritchie²,³ and Jamie Cutts⁴: Extensive volcaniclastic toolstone sources (re)discovered along waterways in Stsʼailes territory, southwestern British Columbia

¹Department of Chemistry, Vrije Universiteit Brussel
²Stsʼailes First Nation Xwilexmet (Rights and Titles Department)
³Department of Anthropology, University of British Columbia
⁴Department of Earth, Ocean, and Atmospheric Sciences, University of British Columbia

11:30-12:00  Camilla Speller (Department of Anthropology, University of British Columbia): New approaches for investigating human-whale relationships and the use of coastal resources

12:00-12:30  Sophie Rabinow (Department of Archaeology, Simon Fraser University): Across the Caribbean Sea: Reconstructing the Interactions of Indigenous Islanders using Ancient Mitochondrial DNA of Agouti (Dasyprocta sp.)

12:30-13:00  Lunch Break
14th Annual Archaeology Day Schedule
 Foundations on Running Water: The Archaeology of Water and Settlement

Keynote Address
13:00-14:00  Charles Lecturer Michael Harrower (Associate Professor of Archaeology, Johns Hopkins): Water Histories of Ancient Yemen and the American West.

Session #3
14:00-14:30  Mark Locicero (Department of Classical, near Eastern and Religious Studies, University of British Columbia): Flows across the Mediterranean: Sustainable water management in Roman cities (Ostia and Volubilis).

14:30-15:00  Steve Renette (Department of Classical, near Eastern and Religious Studies, University of British Columbia): Invisible Water – The Local Effects of Hydropolitics and Unsustainable Water Management on Archaeological Heritage in Iraqi Kurdistan

15:00-15:30  Jeremy A. Beller Department of Archaeology, Simon Fraser University: Exploring the survival of Middle Pleistocene hominins at a Levantine desert refugium: Recent results from the AMAPP excavations in Azraq, Jordan.

15:30-16:00  Mark Locicero (Department of Classical, near Eastern and Religious Studies, University of British Columbia): Closing Remarks and Future Directions